THE 'DADDY' OF ALL DIRECTORS

The last time
 Dennis Dugan

had a major part on TV, viewers were outraged. In 1988 he played Maddie Hayes's (Cybill Shepherd) twerpy husband on Moonlighting, and fans thought she should have married David Addison (Bruce Willis). "All of America was furious at me," says Dugan, who also played Captain Freedom on Hill Street Blues and the lead in the short-lived Rockford Files spin-off Richie Brockelman, Private Eye. He was written out of Moonlighting but soon landed a gig on the show behind the camera, directing numerous episodes.

A Private moment:
 with Lisa Eilbacher
 in 1978

A decade later, Dugan is one of Hollywood's more successful directors, having helmed one of this year's biggest blockbusters, the Adam Sandler comedy "Big Daddy." Dugan's body of work—which includes adolescent comedies "Happy Gilmore," "Beverly Hills Ninja" and "Problem Child"—may not garner great reviews or brand him an industry auteur, but he has delivered box-office successes: "Big Daddy" recently passed the $150 million mark. "You are not any less serious about filmmaking when you do 'Happy Gilmore' than when you do 'The English Patient,'" says Dugan, 52, who lives in L.A. with wife Sharon and 9-year-old son Kelly. "It can be just as intense as any other film."

Now he is pondering his next project—perhaps a reteaming with Sandler. "I like comedy," says Dugan. "I won't be directing something like 'Sense and Sensibility.'" —Ted Johnson

ATHLETIC SUPPORT

In between appointments with the Chief and the Boss, the victorious U.S. Women's World Cup soccer team stopped in for a visit with their self-proclaimed "guru." David Letterman welcomed the athletes, whom he referred to as "certifiable babes," to CBS's Late Show on July 20, the day after they visited with President Clinton at the White House and just a few hours before they caught a Bruce Springsteen concert. Letterman's frequent on-air support during the Cup earned him the loyalty of the team, which declined an earlier invitation for the entire squad to appear on The Tonight Show With Jay Leno.

Letterman's love affair with the team began before the rest of the country had taken much notice of them. (In mid-June, prior to the tournament, he had Brandi Chastain, who later scored the game-winning goal against China in the finals, as a guest.)

"He did so much to try to reach a different audience for us," said star forward Mia Hamm at the July taping (above), shivering from the studio's notoriously chilly climate. "We would stay up at nights and wait for Dave to come on. The fact that we could come back and show him how much we appreciate what he's done meant a lot to us." —Rich Sands

NOT THE REAL McBEAL

How to jump-start a career in Hollywood? Make fun of one of its high-profile players. That's the idea former junior-high-school buddies Josh Berman and Cameron Black had when they set out to film Allyn McBeal, a 10-minute spoof of David E. Kelley's Ally McBeal. Berman, 29, was a creative executive at NBC Studios and aspiring writer; Black, 28, a former talk-show producer (Geraldo), was acting and producing in theater and also looking for a break. Together, with a $10,000 budget, the duo created the spoof, which takes on the Ally-Billy-Georgia triangle, the Dancing Baby and even Kelley's wife, Michelle Pfeiffer. Executive producer Black cast himself as Allyn and enlisted friends from an acting class to offer their dead-on impressions of series characters Ling (Karen Kim) and Fish (Patrick Hancock), while Berman wrote the script and signed his brother David to play the role of Elaine.

Copies were mailed to agents, producers and studio executives—and Kelley. "We prayed that he had a sense of humor," says Black. Adds Berman: "We heard that he loved it." ("It made me laugh," Kelley told Access Hollywood.)

The mission, it seems, has been accomplished. "I've had a couple of meetings so far," says Berman, who has been hired as a writer on M.Y.O.B., a midseason sitcom for NBC. Black, meanwhile, is weighing acting and producing roles. "Next time, I want to do it with somebody else's money," he says. "Maybe David Kelley would like to develop a series for me." —Stef McDonald

Something's fishy: Black and Hancock

CHEERS to the new home of the Western. TNT has distinguished itself over the past few years with a substantial slate of made-for-TV cowboy movies that

Elliott plays a legendary lawman in a new Western. have been both stylish and diverse. Some of the channel's most daring efforts include the deliriously trigger-happy spaghetti Western Dollar for the Dead, with Emilio Estevez, and the supernatural showdown of Purgatory, with Eric Roberts and Sam Shepard. The most recent offering, You Know My Name (August 22), was just as original. This elegiac film starred Sam Elliott as storied marshal Bill Tilghman in the twilight of his career as the Old West is dying. We tip our ten-gallon hats to TNT for keeping one of America's richest storytelling traditions so viable and vibrant.

CHEERS to deathless duos. In the latest episode (August 21) of Nickelodeon's fanciful bottom-of-the-sea cartoon SpongeBob SquarePants (try saying that three times fast), the porous title character finds out that his favorite childhood superheroes are living just a few fathoms down the ocean floor at the Shady Shoals Rest Home. In their prime, Mermaidman and Barnacleboy (think Prince Namor with a youthful sidekick) commanded the creatures of the deep while uttering such salty phrases as "Leapin' lampreys!" and "Mumbling morays!" Providing the evocative voices for these rusty, retired action figures were Ernest Borgnine and Tim Conway. It was the pair's first TV collaboration since McHale's Navy was dry-docked 33 years ago. What a strange and wonderful reunion! And speaking of classic combos...

CHEERS to a fateful fight. Next month's pay-per-view boxing match between Oscar De La Hoya and Felix Trinidad (September 18) for the welterweight championship is the year's most eagerly anticipated bout. Pugilistic experts are drooling at the prospect of seeing these undefeated fighters—two of the most talented boxers in any weight division—finally meet in the ring. Of course, TV fans didn't have to study the fighters' records to know these two will put on a fierce donnybrook. Anytime you pit Felix against Oscar, sparks are going to fly. If the WBC and IBF haven't already designated a referee, allow us to make a suggestion: How about Murray the Cop?

JEERS to stale streaking. The video from Blink-182's hit "What's My Age Again?" features the tattooed trio running naked through a number of recognizable tableaux, including the set of E! channel's Talk Soup. Their appearance draws a shocked reaction from host John Henson. Unfortunately, soon after MTV began airing this clip, Henson left the show, and Hal Sparks replaced him. The changing of the guard has branded Blink-182's video with a curiously dated vibe.

THE Roush REVIEW

BY MATT ROUSH

Cable's Women: North and South

At face value, the fabulous but flighty Manhattan party girls of HBO's Sex and the City would seem to have little in common with the older and wiser Alabama ladies of Lifetime's Any Day Now.

Except for one inescapable fact: None of them would be at home on network TV. The Emmy-nominated Sex and the City is too raunchy; Any Day Now, too tame.

And while I have my qualms about Sex's surprise best-comedy nomination, I've become a much more enthusiastic fan this summer during Sex's second season.

What once seemed shrill and smug in its shockingly explicit girl talk has evolved into a richer, funnier and more heart-felt exploration of finding love, or at least happiness, in the big city. As sex columnist/heroine Carrie Bradshaw (adorable Emmy nominee Sarah Jessica Parker) puts it: "In a city as cynical as New York, is it still possible to believe in love at first sight?"

Her rekindled relationship with the aloof "Big" (Chris Noth) has grounded Sex in a wistful romanticism, even as her friends—the prickly Miranda (Cynthia Nixon), the voracious Samantha (Kim Cattrall) and the naive Charlotte (Kristin Davis)—provide wacky, torrid contrasts with their amorous misadventures.

Parker:
Sex siren is up for an Emmy.

In the summer that gave us the insipid Man Show, the success of Sex gives women the last laugh and the last (not to mention the naughtiest) word.

A world apart in tone, but no less distinctive, Any Day Now harks back to a nearly vanished form of well-crafted family drama in its focus on the interracial friendship of two women (the excellent Annie Potts and Lorraine Toussaint) who grew up as best friends during the turbulent civil-rights era in Birmingham, Alabama (Sex and the City could learn from Any Day's diversity).

Flashbacks from the

RoushRiff

It could be what the doctor ordered: a wake-up call for prime time's aging medical dramas. Chicago Hope already reenlisted Mandy Patinkin to shake things up; Barbara Hershey and Lauren Holly are among the new fall faces. ER is adding some actors, including Alan Alda and Rebecca DeMornay in high-profile guest roles, and has promoted the hissable Paul McCrane (Dr. Romano) to full-time status. Maybe these fixes will help. But I'm eagerly awaiting Steven Bochco's mid-season medical drama, CBS's City of Angels. If anyone can reignite a tired genre, he can.

'60s interrupt and comment on the current stories, as Potts's harried housewife and Toussaint's conflicted lawyer—each yearning for what the other has—make for two of TV's more mature and intriguing character studies.

Their world may not be as hip as Sex's fast-lane milieu, but it's an equally interesting place to go. Do the networks know what they're missing?

IT'S A TESTAMENT TO THE SURVIVAL POWER OF CHER that her current sold-out, 50-city concert tour—highlighted by the HBO special Cher: Live in Concert at the MGM Grand in Las Vegas—has been boasting an audience of unprecedented variety: Not only is she attracting Gen-X club kids, who made her recent single “Believe” the biggest hit of her 35-year career, and senior citizens, who once spooned to the tune of “I Got You Babe,” but she is also luring an astounding number of tykes who adored the recent reruns of The Sonny and Cher Comedy Hour on TV Land. Could the other legendary divas of our day—Barbra Streisand, Diana Ross, Bette Midler or Madonna—draw a crowd anywhere near as eclectic? Cher has seen her career soar (she won a 1987 Oscar for “Moonstruck”) and sink (in the early '90s, she was hawking hair-care products on infomercials) more times than even she can recall. But she did not win her uncontested crown Tonight, on a rare night off from her grueling tour, she is the other Cher: subdued, introspective, almost ethereal in her calm, but never less than candid. In contrast to her bigger-than-life persona, she is a mere slip of a thing, so thin, small-boned and delicate, you fear she might snap when you shake her hand. She is barefoot, dressed in a simple black sweater and slacks, and she sits with her knees tucked protectively under her chin. She is imbibing a frozen hot chocolate, a slurpy concoction she has ordered from the nearby kid-appeal restaurant, Serendipity 3. This is a 53-year-old firmly in touch with her inner child. →

EXPERIENCE

BY MICHAEL LOGAN

destined to remain on a professional roller coaster?

CHER: I keep hoping I'm going to catch that Frank Sinatra wave and never have to prove myself again. You know, that one big wave Sinatra hit, and then he was Sinatra forever and ever? But I'm really fine with the peaks and valleys. It's the valleys that make me, force me to reach further. I live an artist's life. It's not supposed to be smooth and nice and tidy and neat. I don't like the valleys very much when they're happening, and I'm always surprised when I peak again, but I just keep doing it.

TVG: But in the grand scheme, isn't your career—with its hairpin turns and unexpected triumphs—more interesting, more gratifying than one that is stable and linear, say, Streisand's?

CHER: [Laughs] Oh, it's a lot better to

TV GUIDE: Now that you're back on top, do you feel that you have finally proven yourself? Or do you think you are read about than it is to live. Yeah, it makes good drama, but it's really difficult, especially when everybody's saying, "There is no way Cher is gonna pull it out this time," and I also find myself thinking, "S---! There is no way I'm gonna pull it out this time!" But I'm responsible for my own downfalls, because I am a very strange combination of stability and instability. Emotionally, half of me is solid and down-to-earth, the other half is Judy Garland. But I'm fine with it. I'm good with it, actually. I have lemons, and I make lemonade.

TVG: Is this your last tour—or can you pull this off again at age 55? At 60? At 70?

CHER: Oh, I can't envision that. This is just such a hard job. How Tina Turner can still do it blows my mind. Every night, for a nonstop hour and a half, I'm singing, dancing, running around backstage ripping off my clothes and changing costumes nine times. I'm constantly moving. But I'd rather take a gun and shoot the roof of my mouth off than just come out onstage, stand there in one outfit and sing. That is so not me. I'm not a singer. I'm an entertainer. I'm there to make it sparkly. Maybe when I get really old, I'll teach. Maybe I'll teach acting to kids. The arts can keep kids from making terrible mistakes in their lives.

TVG: Did you march to your own drummer, even as a kid?

CHER: I've been a loner since I was teeny. My mom used to get furious, because I was always in my own world. And I still am.

TVG: What is that world?

CHER: It's one of old movies and art and archaeology and Napoleon and Lincoln. I just travel in this bubble through life. I can be with 50,000 people in a concert, but it's hard for me to be with 5 people in a room. I'm too shy. I don't do well in the world. It always kills me when people tell me I've got my finger on the pulse. [Cackles] I don't have my finger on the pulse of anything! My idea of a great time is sitting on the floor of a bookshop for hours and hours, or having one whole day to do nothing but stay in bed and watch Turner Classic Movies.

TVG: Your final scene in "Tea with Mussolini" is a dramatic, old-time movie star moment. Very Garbo [Cher's character, a brash American actress, escapes the Nazis in a rowboat in the dead of night].

CHER: I got the coolest message from Ben Kingsley ["Schindler's List"], who was going on and on and on about that, and I thought, "What movie did he see?"

TVG: You don't like your work in the film?

CHER: I only like my last little bit. Like maybe my last couple of words. I'm not a huge Cher fan.

TVG: How much of a loner are you? Do you have any social circle?

CHER: I am so antisocial. My friends are really patient, because I might not talk to them for years. I'm not wanting to be mean. Sometimes I'm just not interested. I had a huge Thanksgiving dinner for a bunch of people at my house, but I didn't feel like going to it. I just never went downstairs.

TVG: A recent issue of Ladies' Home Journal stated that you've been celibate for six years.

CHER: Well, it's not true. I don't even know how that celibacy thing got started. I think I told the writer I hadn't had a boyfriend in, oh, I don't know how many years. But I wouldn't even think of being celibate. I would just think of it as not having a boyfriend. "Celibate" sounds like you're a nun.

TVG: So you have no boyfriend now?

CHER: No.

TVG: Do you want one?

CHER: Want one, yes. Need one, no.

TVG: Last year, you took a lot of flak for saying that you communicated with Sonny after he died, through psychic medium James Van Praagh.

CHER: [Long pause]

Look, I made the mistake of discussing this, and it turned into a real dog-and-pony show. Sometimes I can be too honest, and it comes back to bite me in the ass. [Van Praagh] told me things only Sonny would have known. And Sonny's sense of humor really came through. Did it change my life afterward? No. Do I believe any more strongly in [the afterlife] than I did before? No. But it was great.

TVG: It's hard to believe you didn't watch the recent ABC movie about Sonny and Cher. You had no curiosity whatsoever, not even to check out the actress [Renee Faia] who played you?

CHER: I swear to God I wasn't interested. I enjoy the great drag queens who do me. I think that's sweet. I feel a connection with them. I had no connection with that movie. Besides, I lived it. I don't have to see somebody's idea of what it was. I know what it was.

TVG: So many rock stars who came to prominence when you did in the '60s and '70s died prematurely. Did you ever worry that you, too, would become a casualty?

CHER: Never even thought about it, mostly because I never did drugs. But it's mostly a guy thing. Women are able to take stress so much better than men. Men's egos are so fragile. They just...get lost somehow. If all you seek is fame, money and sex, and then you become famous, have all the money you want and women are throwing themselves at you, then what's left? You need more highs, you start doing drugs, and then you're pretty much screwed. Women are more grounded.

TVG: Rate yourself as a mom.

CHER: I don't think it's possible to be both a good mother and a working mother. You do the best you can do, but I think your children always suffer, just like your romantic relationships suffer. Elijah still lives with me, and Chas comes over with her girlfriend maybe like once a month and spends a long weekend. But I wouldn't be a bit surprised if my children think I've done a less-than-terrific job. I haven't made peace with that, but I acknowledge it.

TVG: Did your own mom offer parenting advice?

CHER: [A sudden, explosive laugh] No, my own mom is like my own child! She pretends to be helpless, but she's not really. If I get in a crunch, if I get into deep trouble, I call her. Otherwise, she's really flighty. She's Billie Burke [who played Glinda the Good Witch in "The Wizard of Oz"]. But she can be babbling and babbling and babbling, and all of a sudden say something really smart I'll keep with me for five years.

My mom and I fight like crazy! She won't do what I want her to do. I want her to live the way I want her to live. And she just won't. My mother and my grandmother—who's only 13 years older than my mom—also fight like cats and dogs. But Mom's very hilarious. She gives me countless hours of entertainment. Chas and I don't fight at all. We argue a bit, but with my mom I revert to being a teenager. I'm always like [she puts hands on hips in an exasperated pose], "Mother!"

TVG: What do your kids think of your current success?

CHER: I think I'm cool, but I am sooo uncool to my children. I'm, like, so corny. I embarrass them to no end. Everything I do embarrasses Elijah. But you know what he said about the concert? "My friends and I actually thought your show was good, mom. It was good." [She clasps her heart] That's better than a rave review in the New York Times, because he never has anything good to say.

TVG: Well, you can't be that embarrassing to him if he still lives at home.

CHER: He did leave for, like, six months, but then he came back, and now everyone says, "He's never moving out." I wouldn't mind if he got married and brought his wife home to live.

TVG: So Cher wants to be a grandma?

CHER: Oh, absolutely. Are you kidding?

TVG: Is the world ready for this?

CHER: Hey, I could have been a grandmother years ago. Oh, I would love it! Oh, yes. I would love that more than anything. Is the world ready? Like, I care? ■

Being Cher's kids can't be easy. Or can it? According to 30-year-old Chastity Bono, the daughter of Cher and her first husband, Sonny Bono, "People assume it must be difficult, but I don't have anything to contrast it to. It's all I know. To me, it's complete normalcy. Would it have been nice to have her around more when I was growing up? Absolutely. But she had a lot of responsibility and was supporting many, many people. She did the best she could." Bono admits she "is not generally astounded by what my mom does, but seeing the Believe concert gave me one of those rare opportunities to disconnect, to forget who I am, and be totally blown away by her. I had a ball watching the crowd—kids, old people, straights, gays—everybody loved her." Bono's 1998 book, Family Outing (Little, Brown), which will be released October 1 in paperback, details Cher's hurt and angry reaction upon learning that her daughter is gay. "But it actually strengthened her support in the gay community," says Bono, "because her response was primal and almost textbook for the parent of a gay child—and she got past it." Elijah Blue Allman, 23-year-old son of Cher and her second husband, rock giant Gregg Allman, heads the death-metal group Deadsy (its first CD, Commencement, will be released next month on Sire Records, a division of his mom's label, Warner Bros.). "As a kid," says Allman, "I used to get swarmed at the airport, and it was annoying. I'm not into my mom's whole fame thing. I don't ever want to be, like, crazy famous. I want my band to be ridiculously big, but I don't want to be an icon." But does he want to be a dad? In response to Cher's rabid desire to have a grandchild, Allman says: "Uh...that's the last thing I'm thinking about right now. Why don't you get back to me in, like...nine years?"

There was Christina Aguilera at the trendy MAC Cosmetics shop in Los Angeles's tony Beverly Center when, she says, "Suddenly, these girls come up and they're screaming, 'Are you Christina Aguilera?' 'Genie in a Bottle'?" They had just bought my single and had it with them. Then they went out and bought a disposable camera to take my picture."

In those few minutes, Aguilera, 18, got the one thing she says she has wanted her whole life—public recognition: "It was the coolest feeling. I have waited to have that happen for so long."

It's a feeling that's sure to be experienced again soon, as Aguilera gets ready to snatch the teen pop-queen crown from her old Mickey Mouse Club castmate Britney Spears. "Genie in a Bottle" has sold more than half a million copies since its June 22 release, and its video consistently ranks among the Top 10 on MTV's Total Request Live. Her self-titled debut album hits the stores August 24. She will appear on Total Request Live (3 P.M./ET, August 23) and sing on The Tonight Show With Jay Leno (NBC, 11:35 P.M./ET, August 27). She gets to play dress up with Rebecca Romijn-Stamos on MTV's House of Style (10:30 P.M./ET, August 30) and perform on UPN's Summer Music Mania '99 special (8 P.M./ET, August 31). Next month, she will sing on Beverly Hills, 90210 (Fox, 8 P.M./ET, September 15).

"Just seeing my name at No. 1 on a Billboard chart—it's always been a dream," Aguilera says. The older daughter of a military man, she spent her earliest years traveling from Texas to New Jersey to Japan. That stopped when her parents separated. She and her mother, Shelly, now president of her fan club, moved in with grandmother Delcie Fidler of Wexford, Pennsylvania, when Christina was 7. Fidler was the first to encourage Aguilera to develop her voice. When Aguilera was 12, she was cast in the Disney Channel's Mickey Mouse Club, appearing on its last two seasons. In 1998, she recorded the ballad "Reflections" for the "Mulan" soundtrack.

These days, it's hard to recognize that Aguilera is the same girl who once sang "M-I-C-K-E-Y" with Spears and fellow Mouseketeers Justin Timberlake and JC Chasez, now with 'N Sync. Blond and meticulously made-up, she appears less a teen than an ambitious adult. She plans to record the Diane Warren-penned ballad "I Turn to You" in Spanish as a nod to her Latin roots (her father, Fausto, is Ecuadorian). There may be a fall tour. And she hopes to squeeze in some relaxation time soon (i.e., dating). "My schedule doesn't allow me to have a boyfriend. But if I meet somebody on the road I click with," she says, grinning, "I'll make a little time." —Janet Weeks

ROCK'N' REVEAL

BY JOSH ROTTENBERG

ON VH1'S BEHIND THE MUSIC, POP'S BIGGEST

STARS TELL ALL ABOUT THEIR WILD DAYS AND DARK NIGHTS.

The room is silent as legendary record producer Quincy Jones begins to talk about his mother. The interviewer, who up to this point has been casually chatty, now leans forward with an expression of deep concern, hanging on every word. "My mother was placed in a mental institution when I was 5," says Jones, shifting in his chair under the television lights. "Somehow you feel very betrayed. So I guess I replaced my mother with music and imagination. I just went into that world and stayed there." As the interviewer leads Jones back to his impoverished childhood, to the days when he fetched rats from the river for his grandmother to fry for supper, it's clear that the emotional wounds Jones suffered while growing up are still fresh. "I hear people talk about their mothers," he says, "and some apparatus deep inside of me gets short-circuited for a moment."

By revealing painful, deeply personal secrets such as these, VH1's Behind the Music (nightly, 9 P.M./ET) has become a hugely successful series. The show's highly addictive recipe of tunes, triumph and trauma has boosted the once-flagging music channel's prime-time viewership 150 percent since its August 1997 debut. Each week, the faces change—the Mamas and the Papas one night, R.E.M. another, Iggy Pop the next—but the underlying story, told in the artist's own words, remains largely the same: a brilliant rise to stardom followed by tragedy and conflict followed, after the last commercial break, by healing and rebirth.

Drug abuse, groupie orgies, car wrecks, financial crises, marital strife, bitter legal feuds, emotional meltdowns, careers teetering on the brink of oblivion—rock stardom, as refracted through Behind the Music, is a fascinating place to visit, though few in their right minds would want to live there. It's OK that you never fulfilled your junior-high fantasies of becoming the next Leif Garrett or Karen Carpenter, the series consoles the viewer.

Like so many other biography shows, Behind the Music offers its audience a steady supply of next-day office-watercooler conversation; for the subject, it's an opportunity to set the record straight and, quite often, an electronic confession booth. "When you ask an artist to tell you their whole life, it's very intense, and there's usually some revelation for them," says executive producer Gay Rosenthal. "I remember interviewing Meat Loaf at his house for, like, four hours. Finally, I had to say, 'Look, I'll stay all night if you want, but I'm sure you want to kick me out.'" (Rosenthal ended up staying for several more hours.) Donna Summer—whose own Behind the Music episode chronicled the career turbulence that brought her to the brink of mental collapse—understands the series' therapeutic appeal. "A lot of artists want that cathartic experience," she says. "They want to show the audience what they've been through, because they feel what's been presented in the past isn't the truth. They want to feel that the audience is accepting them for who they are, not just what they do."

As it happens, there's a more immediately tangible incentive for an artist to dish on Behind the Music: the chance to kick up album sales. The week after the premiere of Madonna's episode, her latest album, Ray of Light, jumped 25 spots up the charts. Even artists with little new material to promote have felt the show's impact: '80s hair-spray rockers Def Leppard saw their greatest-hits album vault into the Billboard Top 10 the week after their Behind the Music aired. The result is a delicate but, so far, happy case of mutual back-scratching between VH1 and the music industry. "Now the series is just part of the marketing plan at record labels," says Jeff

Gaspin, VH1's executive vice president for programming and production. "For a series we had no idea would make it past five episodes, that's a huge way to come in less than two years."

Viewer response to the series' first two installments—a surprisingly moving portrait of pop punch lines Milli Vanilli and a retrospective look at MC Hammer's remarkable rise and financial collapse—was immediate and enormous. But as the eager Behind the Music creators began trolling for more subjects, they found that the music industry was slow to warm up to the idea. Such top-drawer acts as Sting and Madonna were hesitant to associate themselves with what seemed to be a "Where are they now?" series.

The buzz for the programs continued to build, however. "I knew Behind the Music was going to be big when everybody started raving about the Tony Orlando episode," says VH1's president, John Sykes. "We were getting e-mails saying, 'I've never even cared about this guy, and now I'm fascinated with his story.'" When Billy Joel signed on for an episode, resistance began to soften.

After two years, Behind the Music's team has the production of each 44-minute episode down to a science. In the 12 to 15 weeks it takes to put together a show, the producers conduct two lengthy interviews with the artist and speak with up to 15 friends, associates and family members. Inevitably, old conflicts are revisited, career humiliations explored in depth, lingering wounds probed. But, so far at least, the subjects seem pleased with the results. "I've never had an artist complain about their show," says executive producer George Moll. "We don't back away from tough issues if they're relevant, but we do it in a respectful way."

Not that there aren't some extremely sensitive issues to navigate. "Thirty or 40 percent have lawsuits they're not allowed to discuss," says Gaspin. "Ex-wives or ex-lovers are usually an issue. Madonna didn't want to talk about Sean Penn, though she didn't care if we talked about him." There have been some intractable snags: artists who have refused to discuss something that VH1 deemed pivotal to the story. In those cases, says Gaspin (who won't name names), "We say, 'Thank you, but we can't do the story until you're ready to talk about this.'"

With the series scoring the network's highest ratings, even in repeats, VH1 is planning to roll out Behind the Music videos, albums and books. At some point, the well of tumultuous rock-star sagas is bound to run dry. "We're definitely not going to run out in the next year or two," predicts Rosenthal. Indeed, VH1 has a steady supply of would-be subjects. New shows feature the Bay City Rollers, Donny and Marie Osmond and Bad Company. "People in the music industry love this series," says Gaspin. "They say, 'I want one I was important, too.' I swear to God, people pitch us their stories and describe the downs in their life: 'Well, I was on heroin.'" He laughs. "It's like, 'Great, what else have you got?'" ■

SIX HIGH NOTES

LEIF GARRETT

SHOCK-VALUE INTRO: "The never-before-told story of Leif Garrett."

CAREER HIGH: "He charmed his way to teen-idol glory before he was old enough to drive a car."

HITTING BOTTOM: "Just four years after his debut, Leif lost his luster.... A decade of self-destruction led to a three-year addiction to heroin."

A NEW LEIF? Two days after an airing of his episode, Garrett was arrested in Los Angeles for possession of cocaine and heroin. Behind the Music is trying to talk to him again to update its show.

SHOCK-VALUE INTRO: "A tale of turmoil, litigation and controversy."

CAREER HIGH: "They were the No. 1-selling American female group of all time."

LOW MOMENTS: "Sickness, arson and bankruptcy threatened to silence TLC forever."

FIRE STARTER: Lisa "Left Eye" Lopes (center) was charged with first-degree arson when she burned down the house she was sharing with her then-boyfriend, football star Andre Rison.

OZZY OSBOURNE

SHOCK-VALUE INTRO: "Ozzy Osbourne's utterly honest, often humorous, always outrageous odyssey from rock god to rock bottom."

CAREER HIGH: He headlined the annual Ozzfest tour, the second-highest-grossing tour in America last year.

TOUCHED BY TRAGEDY: While on tour in 1982, 25-year-old guitarist Randy Rhoads died in a plane crash. "I haven't gotten over it yet," said Osbourne. MAN BEHAVING BADLY: After a drunken binge, he tried to strangle his wife. She is still with him today.

SELENA

SHOCK-VALUE INTRO: "The life and career of Selena Quintanilla Perez, and an exclusive investigation into the events leading to her murder."

CAREER HIGH: She won a Latin music Grammy in 1994.

DRAMATIC DEATH: In March 1995, Selena was shot and killed by Yolanda Saldivar, president of her fan club.

SECRETS AND LIES: In a behind-bars interview, Saldivar hints that her murderous act somehow involved an extortion plot over videotapes damaging to Selena's career.

TONY ORLANDO

SHOCK-VALUE INTRO: "Audiences adored Tony Orlando, but Tony says the grueling demands of public life drove him to use drugs."

CAREER HIGH: Topped the charts with the hit "Tie a Yellow Ribbon."

DEPTHS OF DESPAIR: Orlando "snapped" at a concert and shocked fans by rambling on about the suicide of his best friend, Chico and the Man star Freddie Prinze. Days later, he checked into a psychiatric ward. SLIM FAST: At 16, Orlando weighed 250 pounds. "Tony dropped 100 pounds, and soon women were crazy about him."

THE CARPENTERS

SHOCK-VALUE INTRO: "Beneath the placid smiles and smooth surface of their music ran darker, more dangerous currents."

CAREER HIGH: In 1970, they had a No. 1 hit with "Close to You" and, in 1971, won two Grammys. In the course of the decade, they scored 16 consecutive Top 20 hits.

UNTIMELY END: Karen's death at the age of 32 of complications from anorexia.

SIBLING RIVALRY: Richard felt overshadowed by Karen's fame and admitted to being hurt when a journalist referred to him as "the piano player with the Carpenters."

THE FULL NELSON

LONG BEFORE THIS WEEK'S TV-MOVIE ABOUT RICKY NELSON, WE HAD HIM COVERED, WATCHING HIM GROW FROM A MILK-AND-COOKIES KID TO A DREAMY POP STAR. HERE ARE SOME FAVORITE MOMENTS

Ricky Nelson: Original Teen Idol airs Sunday, August 22, 9 P.M./ET, on VH1.

● RICKY—HIS FULL NAME IS ERIC HILLIARD Nelson—gets different treatment from each member of the family. Papa Ozzie and Mama Harriet like to talk out his problems with him. David reserves the big-brother right to box his ears.

When these fail, they have one surefire approach.

"Don't be a child actor," they tell him.

But getting the best of Ricky isn't easy. Recently David was going to a church dance. His brother asked to go along. "Sure," agreed David, although all the girls would be 16 to 18 years old.

At the party, the girls asked to dance with Ricky. The next day his dad asked how Ricky, only 12, could get girls who were older to dance with him.

"Well," said Ricky, "I told them I was 13."

● WE'RE RATHER PROUD of our Christmas cover. The warm, friendly spirit of the season centers about the home, and certainly no four people represent all that is fine about family life better than the Nelsons.

The Nelsons' difficulties in maintaining a family relationship that thrives on doing things together have been greater than most of us face. They raised their boys as actors as well as boys, and in Hollywood that's no easy task if the boys are to be normal and well balanced. The Nelsons, however, succeeded.

By the age of 12, Ricky Nelson was earning $1,600 a week on his parents' TV show, The Adventures of Ozzie and Harriet, and his "I don't fool around, boy" was becoming as much of a trademark as Jackie Gleason's "And away we go." On May 15, 1953, the young comic made his TV GUIDE debut, proving he could be just as funny off-screen as on.

Ricky, Ozzie, Harriet and David in 1951

To their many fans, the Nelsons represented the ideal American family. Our editors clearly agreed, as you can tell from this December 25, 1954, editorial, "As We See It."

Ricky Nelson, who died in 1985 at age 45 in a plane crash, is still a hot subject. Besides VH1's re-creation of his life, Original Teen Idol (starring, clockwise from top left: Sara Botsford, Jamey Sheridan, Greg Calpakis, Anthony Lemke), two other projects about him are reportedly in the works.

On April 10, 1957, Nelson made his singing debut in an Ozzie and Harriet episode titled "Ricky the Drummer." It was a huge success, and undoubtedly the most significant performance of Nelson's career, as it turned the 16-year-old actor into a major pop star and teen idol. TV GUIDE's December 28, 1957, feature looked at how Nelson's life changed overnight.

AT IMPERIAL'S OFFICES on Hollywood Boulevard, a photo of the boy who grew up on TV shares equal wall space with such veterans of the black art of making records (sic) as Fats Domino and Slim Whitman. And small wonder. "Be-bop Baby," Ricky's first record for Imperial, went on sale August 10 to advance orders totaling 750,000. By November 7, Imperial reported sales of 1,317,000, had presented Nelson with the traditional gold record for a million-seller and was expecting "Be-bop Baby" to go on to sales of 2,000,000.

"This boy," says Lewis R. Chudd, president of Imperial, "is hotter than Pat Boone and could be bigger than Presley. Ricky will gross $150,000 in record royalties in 1957 and should become a millionaire from records alone."

Technically a senior at Hollywood High School, although his schooling has consisted of tutoring on the set for the past four years, Ricky is a gentle, polite young man, generally uncommunicative with outsiders. He has not yet made up his mind whether to go to college. Although he owns and drives his own car, he finances his dates ("usually to the movies") with pocket money requested from his father.

Says Ozzie: "Just a normal, average boy. That's why I'm hoping all this fuss over his records doesn't spoil him. I don't think it will. When David turned 16, the teenagers went crazy for him, too. That's what happens. The young girls discover them—and boom!"

Ricky scored his first big success a year ago last April with a record called "I'm Walkin'." He has since turned out a grand total of seven records, four of which have earned him gold records (sales of 1,000,000 or more).

A quiet lad given to monosyllabic conversation, Ricky graduated from Hollywood High School last June. He doesn't yet know whether or not he will go to college. Actually, he doesn't yet know what he really wants to do, beyond staying in show business. His biggest

By 1958, the emphasis on Ozzie and Harriet turned more and more on the boys. But as TV GUIDE reported December 27, 1958, it was Ricky who was the true star of the family.

kick at the moment is going out on personal appearances, junkets involving four sidemen, a press agent and a couple of ex-football-playing friends (Jack Ellena of the Rams and Paul Cameron of UCLA), who literally run interference for him through the hordes of teenagers who might otherwise mob him at airports, railroad stations, hotels and theaters. ■

WHITE OUT: LATINOS ON TV

The biggest Spanish-speaking star on TV these days doesn't play a doctor, a lawyer, or even a streetwise criminal. Her expressive eyes are unmistakable, her line readings hilarious. And she has the best sheen since Lassie: Such is the sorry state of Latinos on network television that the most recognizable Spanish accent belongs to the Taco Bell Chihuahua.

Infuriated by the absence of minority stars on the 26 new network shows premiering this fall, an alliance of Latino groups (including the National Hispanic Foundation for the Arts and the National Council of La Raza) is calling for a "brownout" during the week of September 12, urging Hispanic viewers to tune out the four major networks. The boycott, which follows recent protests by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, is the opening salvo in what promises to be a hard-fought campaign to pressure the networks into better representing the country's fastest-growing population.

"They say Latino shows don't really sell," says actor Edward James Olmos, an outspoken member of Hollywood's Hispanic community. "But it's got everything to do with marketing. The person who does finally get [a Latino-based series] on the air will become a hero to all of us."

For now, such heroes are which has publicly defended its minority track record, has cast Latino actor Cristián de la Fuente as Dixie Carter's assistant—and potential love interest—on the upcoming drama Family Law.

"We are developing a number of Latino-based projects," says Leslie Moonves, CBS Television president. "I think we're doing better than our competitors. We still can do better." Doug Herzog, president of entertainment for Fox Group, echoes Tarses's argument, noting that even though Fox's upcoming season might not be as ethnically diverse as in past years ("Things are cyclical in this business," he says), the network hard to come by. The Latino profile on TV has always been limited to a few prominent exceptions—Desi Arnaz on I Love Lucy, Freddie Prinze on Chico and the Man—and such groundbreakers have had little effect on changing that landscape. Today's Latino TV stars could be counted on two hands, with fingers to spare (Jesse's Bruno Campos, Chicago Hope's Hector Elizondo, That '70s Show's Wilmer Valderrama and Nash Bridges' Cheech Marin and Jaime P. Gomez, among the very few). And with the departures of two major Hispanic leading men from prime time (NYPD Blue's Jimmy Smits and Law & Order's Benjamin Bratt), the networks are scrambling to broaden their ethnic spectrums. Several new supporting roles for minority actors have been added to prime-time lineups, including a Latino character (played by Jon Huertas) on ABC's Sabrina, the Teenage Witch. "There are other [shows] where we're making that exact same effort," promises Jamie Tarses, president of ABC Entertainment. CBS, maintains a "fairly decent representation" of on-air minorities.

But virtually every network executive interviewed for this article concedes there is vast room for improvement. Says Garth Ancier, president of NBC Entertainment, "It's an area that needs to be addressed." The Latino audience, he continues, "is not being served on television very well by any of the networks." But Ancier adds that NBC's dramas have done a "good job" of casting Latinos—he cites former soap actor Eddie Cibrian on the upcoming Third Watch—and says that he would like to develop a Hispanic family series. "I know some of the talent deals that we are making," he says. "It is certainly not a lily-white list of talent."

Veteran executive producer Dick Wolf, who is white, says the newfound focus on Latino audiences and actors is long overdue, despite his own efforts to cast Latino actors in his shows (Lauren

Diagnosis Murderer

Though it may suffer from comparisons to HBO's The Sopranos, "Analyze This" (Warner, available now) has an awful lot of fun with the odd coupling of a Mob boss (Robert De Niro, left) coping with panic attacks and the mild-mannered New York shrink (Billy Crystal, right) who treats him.

Crystal also has a wedding and an impatient fiancée (Lisa Kudrow) to worry about, but the core of this comedy is the opposites-attract chemistry between Crystal and De Niro. Pushing his client to get in touch with his inner wise guy, Crystal is professionally reassuring and scared out of his wits.

Meanwhile, De Niro delivers a pitch-perfect parody of a De Niro gangster role.

Consider "Analyze This" good therapy for couch potatoes during the dog days of summer.

Four East End lads have one week to pay off a debt in "Lock, Stock and Two Smoking Barrels" (USA Home Entertainment, now), a whip-smart lark from Great Britain that piles on the characters, coincidences and plot twists until your head is spinning. But you'll probably be too busy laughing to worry if you're up to speed.

Traveling Light

A decade ago, soaps went to exotic international locations at the drop of a hat. These days, because of severe budget cuts, such trips are rare. NBC did kick off Passions last month with a plot shot in Paris, but the fledgling soap could only afford to send a bare-bones crew. CBS's The Bold and the Beautiful heads to Venice in December for a wildly lavish shoot made possible only by lots of local freebies (in Italy, B&B is bigger than Benigni). Currently, CBS's Guiding Light is blowing big bucks on a sprawling, Harlequin Romance-style plot—much of it shot in Puerto Rico—that finally reveals what happened to Reva Shayne, the popular character played by three-time Emmy winner Kim Zimmer, after she wiggled out in 1990 and drove her car into the ocean off Florida (that is when Zimmer took a five-year hiatus from the soap). Here's the scoop: Reva, suffering from amnesia, washed ashore on the mythical isle of San Cristobel, married a named Richard (played by Richard Chamberlain clone Bradley Cole) and gave birth to his child. The eye-poppingly majestic Museo Castillo Serralles, an estate-turned-art museum built in the 1930s, is doubling as the prince's palace.

"It's all very beautiful and breathtaking, but frankly, I don't think going on location is worth it anymore," says the always-saucy Zimmer. "It doesn't make a damn bit of difference to the fans. They've seen it all on Lifestyles of the Rich and Famous. But what this story line does do is give them what I've been bitching and moaning about and begging for for years—a really sweeping, epic, passionate romance. It's very 'Calgon, Take Me Away'—the way soap stories were in the good old days." Adds the actress: "Today, most soap writers are afraid to write romance. They're afraid they're not being topical enough. They feel they have to make a statement."

The highlight of the plot has been the eccentric performance of David Andrew Macdonald as Prince Edmund, Richard's wicked kid brother. A modern-day Cary Grant, Macdonald has starred on only one other soap—NBC's Another World, where he played 200-year-old time traveler Jordan Stark and his contemporary look-alike David Halliday. "So outlandish soap fantasy is really all I know," says Macdonald. "This kind of storytelling may not be everybody's cup o' tea, but a lot of female viewers are desperate for it. They're saying, 'Hey, I like this romance drug! I like feeling these big, grand, dizzying feelings. I'm tired of looking at the crack of my husband's butt when he fixes the toilet. I need an escape!'"

Bird In Hand

Cartoons have given us some of the modern era's most delightful anarchists, such merry pranksters as Bugs Bunny and Top Cat, who delight in tipping the applecart, thumbing their snouts at authority and generally undermining the status quo. Animation's sauciest subversive may have been Woody Woodpecker, a hyperactive agitator with a voracious appetite. Created by the Walter Lantz studio in 1940, Woody had his own TV show for nearly 20 years, beginning in 1957.

The woodpecker has landed again—on Fox (Saturdays, 11 A.M./ET). Woody still has that signature laugh—a derisive, triumphant cackle—but far less opportunity to use it. That's because his wings have been clipped. Woody has been made cuter and more sympathetic, but in the process he has become more foil than firebrand. What has unruffled his feathers? A home life. The red-plumed rogue now has a girlfriend (Winnie) and a wide-eyed niece and nephew (Splinter and Knothead) to care for.

Other characters on the show are familiar—Buzz Buzzard and Wally Walrus, for instance. Voice wizard Billy West provides Woody's dialogue, following in the footsteps of first Mel Blanc, then Lantz's wife, Grace Stafford. West's primary contribution is an odd one: giving Woody an occasional Scottish accent. Another great Lantz creation, Chilly Willy—the mute but resolute little penguin—also turns up in sporadic stand-alone segments during this half hour.

Though not terribly inventive, The Woody Woodpecker Show is still an enjoyable and fun cartoon. But kids, you should have seen Woody in the old days. Back then he was a jackhammering jackanapes. He has lost a lot of the edge off his beak.

BRIEF REVIEWS OF THIS WEEK'S
NOTABLE PROGRAMS

INTRODUCING DOROTHY DANDRIDGE (Sat., HBO) Halle Berry plays the first black woman nominated for a best-actress Oscar. In the '50s, Dandridge parlayed beauty and talent into a roller-coaster career in movies and nightclubs, where she couldn't use front doors or "white" bathrooms. Racism kept her down, and the men in her life, notably director Otto Preminger (Klaus Maria Brandauer), both helped and hurt her. Berry's lively performance keeps the focus personal, not political. She conjures up a Dandridge who was bold in coping with a white world, yet full of private pain. My score (0-10): 8

Berry in Introducing Dorothy Dandridge

A COOLER CLIMATE (Sun., SHO) Who cares if this cable movie telegraphs its intentions from the first scene and boasts a soundtrack sugary enough to ice a cake? It's a woman's movie, and you wouldn't want it any other way. A bad divorce forces Sally Field to work as a housekeeper for the queen of brittle brutality, Judy Davis. The two despise each other until

Davis cracks, revealing her soft marshmallow center, and then everybody laughs and cries and has another shot of estrogen. My score: 7

than the gifted and doomed Nelson—or make a worse movie bio than this one. Its stale flashback formula starts with Nelson's last hours, turning his life into a series of backward glances—from teen star on

Ozzie and Harriet to drugged-out rocker. In the lead role, newcomer Greg Calpakis does fine when he's supposed to be stoned, but fails miserably when personality is required. Jamey Sheridan barely moves his lips as dictator/dad Ozzie Nelson. And, worst of all, we never hear Nelson's great comeback song, "Garden Party." You can't please everyone, but this won't please a soul. My score: 1

new series is an old-fashioned anthology of fables and sermonettes in bite-size pieces. Hosted by Michael Tucker, it offers short dramatizations from the best-selling inspirational books. "The Seed Jar" is a homey anecdote about money and sisterly love starring an estimable duo: Teri Garr and Shirley Knight. Other playlets deal with sick children, teen crushes and overworked mothers. Some are sentimental, some merely slight. Nothing wrong with that: A little inspiration goes a long way. My score: 7

FAMILY VALUES: THE MOB & THE MOVIES (Tues., TNT) Ineffectively blending clichés from real life with clichés from the movies, this dumb documentary features mobsters—and actors who play mobsters—explaining the Mob. Film clips explain it better, which is a point Values wants to make: Mobsters watch such movies as Gotti and "Analyze This" to learn how to behave. The point it actually makes is this: Movie wise guys are more entertaining than real-life ones. My score: 3

Day and time of broadcast may vary in some areas.

WHITE OUT: LATINOS ON TV

Velez on New York Undercover, Sandra Santiago and Olmos on Miami Vice, and Law & Order's Bratt). "We should accurately reflect the racial makeup of the country," Wolf says, adding that prime time's exclusion of Latinos is predictable: "Most producers are white males."

Olmos agrees, charging that network executives "often won't give Latinos the chance to compete for positive roles." Despite his breakthrough as a cop on Miami Vice, the actor says, he typically is offered roles that are "subservient and antagonistic."

And despite network attempts at fence mending, prime-time TV has a long way to go before it fully reflects the ethnic makeup of America. While Latinos constitute about 11 percent of the U.S. population, they appear as less than 1 percent of television's lead characters, according to the Hispanic coalition calling for the boycott.

Elsewhere on the remote control—cable TV, daytime soaps, Spanish-language channels—the evidence suggests significant inroads being made by Latin-American performers. Soaps, in particular, have aggressively courted Latino viewers—ABC's One Life to Live and All My Children are only two examples of programs with major Hispanic characters. Music sensation Ricky Martin, who will star in his own CBS special later this year, got his television start on General Hospital.

But even the soaps were relatively slow to catch on to the significant population trend: Latinos are the fastest-growing segment of the U.S.—at 31 million, they represent one out of every nine Americans, according to the Census Bureau, and that number is expected to grow to one out of six by 2020. If that doesn't grab the entertainment industry's attention, the economic impact certainly could: Various studies place the annual spending on consumer goods by Latin-Americans at $350 billion to $390 billion—the 14th-largest market in the world. Yet despite the spending, a recent Screen Actors Guild report found that the percentage of TV roles going to Latinos has actually declined since 1997. The drop has been even harsher since the 1950s, when TV offered nearly three times the employment opportunities available to Latinos today. The reason?

LATINOS RATE PRIME-TIME TV

TV GUIDE commissioned this telephone survey of Hispanic adults. Of the respondents who correctly named a Latino prime-time network personality (question No. 3), 25 percent cited Jimmy Smits and 5 percent named Benjamin Bratt. Others mentioned were Cheech Marin, Bruno Campos, Hector Elizondo and Nestor Carbonell.

1 Do you think there are too many, too few or about the right number of Latinos on network TV shows?

| 4. Advertiser belief that Latinos don't spend enough money | 13% |
| 5. The small percentage of Latinos in the U.S. population  | 8%  |
| 6. No answer   | 14% |

This telephone poll of 405 adults was conducted for TV Guide by Elm & Waples Associates Inc. August 4, 1999. There is a margin of error of plus or minus 4.5 percent.

Stereotypical bandido roles, once prevalent on Western programs, have long since fallen from favor, leaving nothing to fill the void.

The lack of TV presence is particularly odd, given the growing number of Latinos watching TV. Demographic studies indicate that Latinos watch as much as 45 minutes more TV per day than the general U.S. population. In the key 18- to 34-year-old audience, Spanish-language channels in Los Angeles, Miami, Dallas, Fresno, Houston, San Francisco and Phoenix have, on occasion, beaten—during prime time—the ABC, CBS, NBC and Fox affiliates.

THERE IS AMPLE SPACE IN THE BROADCAST SPECTRUM FOR AT LEAST ONE AND PROBABLY SEVERAL [SPANISH-LANGUAGE] NETWORKS

—HENRY CISNEROS, PRESIDENT OF UNIVISION

Those numbers haven't been lost on advertisers. Miller Brewing, Nike, Ford and other top-tier companies not only target the audiences of Spanish-language channels, but have begun to air commercials in Spanish on some English-language stations. In one such ad for Chevron, a mariachi band cruises around town in a car fueled with the sponsor's gasoline. Originally intended to air solely on the Spanish-language networks Univision and Telemundo, the commercial proved so popular that Chevron added English subtitles for wider broadcast in Los Angeles.

With Latino culture increasingly filtering into mainstream American life, the Spanish-language channels are poised for serious growth. From the 1997-98 to the 1998-99 seasons, Miami-based Univision (by far the largest Spanish channel) saw its audience climb 26 percent, from 1.4 million to 1.7 million, making it the country's fastest-growing network—cable or broadcast.

"Our estimate is that 67 percent of the Latino population, no matter how long in this country, will continue to watch some Spanish-language TV," says Henry Cisneros, president of Univision Communications. "There is ample space in the broadcast spectrum for at least one and probably several [Spanish-language] networks."

A distant second to Univision, Telemundo is attempting to stake its own claim on the U.S.'s 20 million Spanish-language viewers (and 400 million worldwide) by creating its own programs (Univision mostly airs imports from Mexico and Venezuela). The strategy has yet to pay off: Telemundo lost 14 percent of its adult prime-time viewers (from 213,000 to 183,000) from 1997-98 to 1998-99.

A third Latin-oriented cable network, Si TV, is due for a July 2000 start-up. But unlike Univision and Telemundo, Si TV will broadcast in English. Jeff Valdez, cochairman of the L.A.-based channel, says that "more than 75 percent of American Latinos are either bilingual or English-speaking."

The four major broadcast networks, as even their executives seem to agree, have yet to serve that audience effectively. When the American Latino Media Arts (ALMA) awards, celebrating Latino artistic achievement, were broadcast on ABC in June, the show didn't feature a prize for best female performer in a sitcom. There was no one to nominate. ■

Next week: a look at how Latino stories and performers have fared on prime-time TV and what the future may hold.

Mild Kingdom?

The race for ratings points has long caused TV executives to compromise any personal sense of decency.

We're just giving people what they want and No one's forcing anyone to watch are two of the more worn-out phrases employed by people who know they are not doing society any favors with what they have deemed acceptable for their networks.

But last month, UPN president Dean Valentine struck a new low in either naiveté or insincerity. In defending UPN's decision to add two prime-time hours of World Wrestling Federation (WWF) programming this fall, Valentine called the WWF "an incredibly mild form of entertainment."

Heck, even WWF fans know that's not true. If the WWF were mild entertainment, it wouldn't be drawing record ratings on USA Network, and Valentine would have little interest in airing it. But, for the sake of his argument, let's say that the WWF is, in fact, an incredibly mild form of entertainment.

Armed force: The WWF and Steve Austin come to UPN.

If that's the case, Valentine would have no objection if I entered his home and gave the loved ones in his life, especially the children, a dose of what the WWF has popularized.

For starters, I could approach one of Valentine's family members, point to my crotch and holler, "S-k it!" which has become a battle cry on WWF shows and among WWF fans, especially the kiddies. Maybe I could drop off some of those oversize, WE'RE NO. 1 Styrofoam hands that the WWF sells at shows, props that rate cameos, on kids' hands, during telecasts. The message is presented with an extended middle finger.

For kicks, I could deliver to Valentine and his beloved a few of the WWF's more celebrated TV acts of recent months. We could start with a transvestite oral-sex skit, then make with the stereotype black pimp offering "hos" (whores) to wrestlers and close with an Asian street-gang castration angle.

But it doesn't all have to be graphic. We could provide some recent history of pro wrestling. I could read to Valentine's family a list of performers in their twenties and thirties who have died drug-related deaths. As the WWF, incredibly mild entertainment that it is, grew in popularity, illegal steroid use was the organization's most poorly kept secret. To this day, the WWF's drug policy is characterized by a no-one-cares attitude.

I could even tell the Valentines how the WWF assiduously avoids wrestling in Oregon, which allows the drug testing of pro wrestlers.

In declaring the WWF "mild" entertainment, Valentine, a former Disney executive, no less, suggested that the WWF's critics "lighten up." I suggest that he first feed the WWF to his loved ones, then tell them to lighten up.

Halle Berry

This lush 1999 cable biopic about the rise and tragic fall of the screen siren stars Halle Berry, who also served as executive producer. "I've been trying to [play a leading lady] for 10 years," says Berry. "Finally, I had to make it happen myself." Her labor of love aptly charts Dandridge's own struggle to make it big, from her Cotton Club days to her star turn in 1954's "Carmen Jones," for which she was the first black woman nominated for Best Actress. But private demons, industry racism and a failed affair with director Otto Preminger haunt Dandridge, until a 1965 drug overdose causes the star's untimely fade-out. Earl: Brent Spiner. (2:00)

Stevenson and new addition

Viewers learn the name of Tracy's baby boy (as voted by fans) in the series' second-season opener, which tackles a problem that's common for new moms: trusting a baby-sitter.

Tracy (Cynthia Stevenson) brings her newborn son home from the hospital, and soon finds that leaving him in someone else's care—even for an evening—is harder than she expected. She turns down her own mother (Jessica Walter) on the grounds that he may be influenced by his grandmother's irascibility. Finally, Tracy meets Jennifer, a waitress who seems to be a wonderful caretaker, so Tracy puts her through tests to determine if she's "the one."

Ruby Wax

WAXING FRENETIC

Debut: After a short 1997 run on Fox, Ruby Wax, the irrepressible Chicago-born host of a popular British-TV talk show, returns to American TV with a show she calls "60 minutes on acid."

While Wax takes her time humorously grilling celebrities about such topics as their love lives, families and careers, she also connects with the "man on the street." She sets out to discover fashions, current events and interesting people from across the U.S. In the opener, Wax travels to the Tropicana Hotel in Las Vegas for a backstage glimpse of the dancers and ends up living out her childhood fantasy of being a showgirl on center stage.

NOT YOUR FATHER'S POLITICS

Rob Nelson

Debut: Political activist Rob Nelson introduces a new breed of late-night talk show. "In a time slot where it's mostly variety," he says, "we're taking a daytime-type aspect to it—a host, with a live audience that participates, talking about issues and ideas. But it's not Politically Incorrect. I'm not a comic."

He also isn't neutral. "I'm a host with a point of view," he says. "I'm going to tell you if I don't believe you." But his agenda is neither leftist nor right wing. "I'm an independent populist—a nonpartisan, generationally driven advocate of a new kind of politics." The opener looks at double standards for men and women. (1.00)

GIBBONS
SUN. 8 PM (E)

TINSELTOWN TALK

Leeza Gibbons

Debut: "A serious, journalistic look at [show-business] issues" is how host and executive producer Leeza Gibbons describes this occasional series.

First up: "Hollywood's Obsession with Youth," in which Gibbons chats with veteran TV and film actresses, actors and writers; industry movers and shakers; and the "hotties"—stars in their teens and 20s. The program features comments from producers Aaron Spelling and Garry Marshall; James Van Der Beek (Dawson's Creek) and Drew Barrymore; and Riley Weston, the woman who, at age 32, passed herself off as 19 to write for Felicity. Sally Field

Sally Field and Judy Davis give outstanding performances in this 1999 cable drama, a finely drawn character study of two very different women.

Iris Prue (Field), penniless after a failed marriage and disastrous affair, takes a job as a housekeeper to a wealthy family. Iris finds the work arduous and her employer, Paula (Davis), demanding, but she soon makes tentative steps toward rebuilding her life. It takes Paula's crumbling marriage and estrangement from her daughter—problems that mirror Iris's own experiences—for the women to form a bond that helps them both gain independence. (1:40)

Sam Elliott

Sam Elliott stars as legendary lawman Bill Tilghman in this fact-based 1999 cable drama set in 1924 Oklahoma.

The film introduces Marshal Tilghman on the set of a silent movie based on his past exploits. The location is a far cry from the Wild West, where he made his reputation reining in outlaws, and he feels like a relic of a time gone by. But, in the fashion of a true western hero, he saddles up again when the good citizens of Cromwell, Okla., call on him to bring law and order to their oil-rich boomtown, which is riddled with Prohibition-era vice and corruption. Wiley: Arliss Howard. (2:00)

SUMMERSLAM

Jesse Ventura

The WWF arrives in Minneapolis for "SummerSlam," and Minnesota governor Jesse Ventura plans to maintain order by acting as special referee in the main event. Ventura takes center stage for the title match between WWF champ "Stone Cold" Steve Austin and Hunter Hearst Helmsley. While it may seem odd to see the former "Body" strutting around the ring in pin-stripes rather than a feathered boa, Ventura also was the referee in the main event at the first "SummerSlam"—a tag-team match that pitted Hulk Hogan and "Macho Man" Randy Savage against Andre the Giant and Ted DiBiase. Also on the card: The Rock faces Billy Gunn. (Live)

SUN. 10 PM (2) (9)

Dylan McDermott

David E. Kelley's Boston-based legal drama earned 13 Emmy nominations, more than tripling the number it received last year.

Besides a nod in the best drama category, the Academy of Television Arts & Sciences also recognized the show's talented cast. Among the nominees: Dylan McDermott (Lead Actor); Holland Taylor, Lara Flynn Boyle and Camryn Manheim (Supporting Actress); and Steve Harris (Supporting Actor). Harris, who plays Eugene Young, delivers a strong performance in this repeat focusing on Eugene's custody battle with his ex-wife, who believes that his profession is a detriment to his fitness as a father. ### KILLER RENDEZVOUS

In Part 1 of the two-part season finale, Michael and Nikita (Roy Dupuis, Peta Wilson) put their lives on the line in the name of romance.

Throughout the season, the pair's discreet, will-they-or-won't-they affair has met with growing resistance from Madeline and Operations (Alberta Watson, Eugene Robert Glazer). Now, Michael and Nikita tempt fate when they find a way to steal time together during their missions. But when Madeline and Operations find out about the trysts, it could cost the couple more than their romance, as the Section One chiefs decide that a more drastic punishment is warranted. ### CINCINNATI AT ATLANTA

The Reds visit the Braves for a three-game series at Turner Field. (Live)

After struggling for the last three seasons, Cincinnati has been perhaps the biggest surprise in baseball this year. While they have played just so-so baseball at home, the Reds have been dominant on the road, going 36-16 in their first 52 away games. The offense is led by 1B Sean Casey, who is challenging for the NL batting title, and Danny Graves and Scott Williamson form the league's best closing tandem. But the Reds were dominated by Atlanta in an early-season three-game sweep that included a one-hit complete game from John Smoltz.

STRANGE VIBES

Brandy Norwood

Brandy's brother, Ray J. Norwood, joins the cast (and Mary J. Blige has a cameo) in the series' fifth-season opener.

Moesha believes that if she keeps submitting stories to her boss (Phil Morris) at Vibe magazine, she'll soon make the transition from gofer to writer. But when her boss promotes an incompetent secretary, Moe listens to office gossip... and then interprets her boss's invitation to a party—to discuss her future—as another kind of offer. Meanwhile, Frank's nephew (Ray J. Norwood) runs away, and Myles harbors the young man in his home... without telling Frank. Andrea: Tanya Wright.

(mometasone furoate monohydrate)
Nasal Spray, 50 mcg***
FOR INTRANASAL USE ONLY
*calculated on the anhydrous basis

BRIEF SUMMARY (For full Prescribing Information, see package insert.)

INDICATIONS AND USAGE NASONEX Nasal Spray, 50 mcg is indicated for the prophylaxis and treatment of the nasal symptoms of seasonal allergic rhinitis and the treatment of the nasal symptoms of perennial allergic rhinitis, in adults and children 12 years of age and older. In patients with a known seasonal allergen that precipitates nasal symptoms of seasonal allergic rhinitis, initiation of prophylaxis with NASONEX Nasal Spray, 50 mcg is recommended 2 to 4 weeks prior to the anticipated start of the pollen season.

CONTRAINDICATIONS Hypersensitivity to any of the ingredients of this preparation contraindicates its use.

WARNINGS The replacement of a systemic corticosteroid with a topical corticosteroid can be accompanied by signs of adrenal insufficiency and, in addition, some patients may experience symptoms of withdrawal, i.e., joint and/or muscular pain, lassitude, and depression. Careful attention must be given when patients previously treated for prolonged periods with systemic corticosteroids are transferred to topical corticosteroids, with careful monitoring for acute adrenal insufficiency in response to stress. This is particularly important in those patients who have associated asthma or other clinical conditions where too rapid a decrease in systemic corticosteroid dosing may cause a severe exacerbation of their symptoms. If recommended doses of intranasal corticosteroids are exceeded or if individuals are particularly sensitive or predisposed by virtue of recent systemic steroid therapy, symptoms of hypercorticism may occur, including very rare cases of menstrual irregularities, acneiform lesions, and cushingoid features. If such changes occur, topical corticosteroids should be discontinued slowly, consistent with accepted procedures for discontinuing oral steroid therapy.

Persons who are on drugs which suppress the immune system are more susceptible to infections than healthy individuals. Chickenpox and measles, for example, can have a more serious or even fatal course in nonimmune children or adults on corticosteroids. In such children or adults who have not had these diseases, particular care should be taken to avoid exposure. How the dose, route, and duration of corticosteroid administration affects the risk of developing a disseminated infection is not known. The contribution of the underlying disease and/or prior corticosteroid treatment to the risk is also not known. If exposed to chickenpox, prophylaxis with varicella zoster immune globulin (VZIG) may be indicated. If exposed to measles, prophylaxis with pooled intramuscular immunoglobulin (IG) may be indicated. (See the respective package inserts for complete VZIG and IG prescribing information.) If chickenpox develops, treatment with antiviral agents may be considered.

PRECAUTIONS General: In clinical studies with NASONEX Nasal Spray, 50 mcg, the development of localized infections of the nose and pharynx with Candida albicans has occurred only rarely. When such an infection develops, use of NASONEX Nasal Spray, 50 mcg should be discontinued and appropriate local or systemic therapy instituted, if needed.

Nasal corticosteroids should be used with caution, if at all, in patients with active or quiescent tuberculous infection of the respiratory tract, or in untreated fungal, bacterial, systemic viral infections, or ocular herpes simplex.

Rarely, immediate hypersensitivity reactions may occur after the intranasal administration of mometasone furoate monohydrate. Extreme rare instances of wheezing have been reported.

Rare instances of nasal septum perforation and increased intraocular pressure have also been reported following the intranasal application of aerosolized corticosteroids. As with any long-term topical treatment of the nasal cavity, patients using NASONEX Nasal Spray, 50 mcg over several months or longer should be examined periodically for possible changes in the nasal mucosa.

Because of the inhibitory effect of corticosteroids on wound healing, patients who have experienced recent nasal septum ulcers, nasal surgery, or nasal trauma should not use a nasal corticosteroid until healing has occurred.

Glaucoma and cataract formation was evaluated in one controlled study of 12 weeks' duration and one uncontrolled study of 12 months' duration in patients treated with NASONEX Nasal Spray, 50 mcg at 200 mcg/day, using intraocular pressure measurements and slit lamp examination. No significant change from baseline was noted in the mean intraocular pressure measurements for the 141 NASONEX-treated patients in the 12-week study, as compared with 141 placebo-treated patients. No individual NASONEX-treated patient was noted to have developed a significant elevation in intraocular pressure or cataracts in this 12-week study. Likewise, no significant change from baseline was noted in the mean intraocular pressure measurements for the 139 NASONEX-treated patients in the 12-month study and again, no cataracts were detected in these patients. Nonetheless, nasal and inhaled corticosteroids have been associated with the development of glaucoma and/or cataracts. Therefore, close follow-up is warranted in patients with a change in vision and with a history of glaucoma and/or cataracts.

When nasal corticosteroids are used at excessive doses, systemic corticosteroid effects such as hypercorticism and adrenal suppression may appear. If such changes occur, NASONEX Nasal Spray, 50 mcg should be discontinued slowly, consistent with accepted procedures for discontinuing oral steroid therapy.

Information for Patients: Patients being treated with NASONEX Nasal Spray, 50 mcg should be given the following information and instructions. This information is intended to aid in the safe and effective use of this medication. It is not a disclosure of all intended or possible adverse effects. Patients should use NASONEX Nasal Spray, 50 mcg at regular intervals (once daily) since its effectiveness depends on regular use. Improvement in nasal symptoms of allergic rhinitis has been shown to occur within 11 hours after the first dose based on one single-dose, parallel-group study of patients in an outdoor "park" setting (park study) and one environmental exposure unit (EEU) study and within 2 days after the first dose in two randomized, double-blind, placebo-controlled, parallel-group seasonal allergic rhinitis studies. Maximum benefit is usually achieved within 1 to 2 weeks after initiation of dosing. Patients should take the medication as directed and should not increase the prescribed dosage by using it more than once a day in an attempt to increase its effectiveness. Patients should contact their physician if symptoms do not improve, or if the condition worsens. To assure proper use of this nasal spray, and to attain maximum benefit, patients should read and follow the accompanying Patient's Instructions for Use carefully.

Patients should be cautioned not to spray NASONEX Nasal Spray, 50 mcg into the eyes. Persons who are on immunosuppressant doses of corticosteroids should be warned to avoid exposure to chickenpox or measles, and persons who are on immunosuppressant doses of corticosteroids should be advised that if they are exposed, medical advice should be sought without delay.

Carcinogenesis, Mutagenesis, Impairment of Fertility: In Sprague Dawley rats, mometasone furoate demonstrated no statistically significant increase in the incidence of tumors at an inhalation dose of 67 mcg/kg (approximately 3 times the maximum recommended daily intranasal dose in adults on a mcg/m<sup>3</sup> basis). In Swiss CD-1 mice, mometasone furoate demonstrated no statistically significant increase in the incidence of tumors at an inhalation dose of 160 mcg/kg (approximately 4 times the maximum recommended daily intranasal dose in adults on a mcg/m<sup>3</sup> basis).

At cytotoxic doses, mometasone furoate produced an increase in chromosome aberrations in vitro in Chinese hamster ovary-cell cultures in the nonactivation phase, but not in the presence of rat liver S9 fraction. Mometasone furoate was not mutagenic in the mouse-lymphoma assay and the Salmonella/E. coli mammalian microsome mutation assay, a Chinese hamster lung cell (CHL) chromosomal-aberrations assay, an in vivo mouse bone-marrow erythrocyte-micronucleus assay, a rat bone-marrow clastogenicity assay, and the mouse male germ-cell clastogenicity assay. Mometasone furoate also did not induce unscheduled DNA synthesis in vivo in rat hepatocytes.

In reproductive toxicity studies in rats, mometasone furoate administered subcutaneously caused prolonged gestation, prolonged and difficult labor, reduced offspring survival, and reduced maternal body weight gain following treatment at 15 mcg/kg (approximately 1/3 the maximum recommended daily intranasal dose in adults on a mcg/m<sup>3</sup> basis). Impairment of fertility in rats was not produced by subcutaneous doses up to 15 mcg/kg.

Pregnancy: Teratogenic Effects: Pregnancy Category C: Mometasone furoate caused cleft palate in mice at subcutaneous doses of 60 and 180 mcg/kg, (approximately 2 and 4 times the maximum recommended daily intranasal dose in adults on a mcg/m<sup>3</sup> basis, respectively). Offspring survival was reduced in the 180 mcg/kg group. The nonteratogenic subcutaneous dose level in mice was 20 mcg/kg (approximately 1/3 the maximum recommended daily intranasal dose in adults on a mcg/m<sup>3</sup> basis). In rabbits, mometasone furoate was teratogenic and caused flexed front paws at a topical dermal dose of 150 mcg/kg (approximately 14 times the maximum recommended daily intranasal dose in adults on a mcg/m<sup>3</sup> basis).

In rats, mometasone furoate produced umbilical hernia, cleft palate, and delayed ossification at a topical dermal dose of 600 mcg/kg (approximately 30 times the maximum recommended daily intranasal dose in adults on a mcg/m<sup>3</sup> basis). At 1200 mcg/kg (approximately 60 times the maximum recommended daily intranasal dose in adults on a mcg/m<sup>3</sup> basis), microphthalmia, umbilical hernias, and delayed ossification were observed in rat pups.

In these teratogenicity studies, there were also reductions in maternal body weight gain and effects on fetal growth (lower fetal body weights and/or delayed ossification) in mice (60 and 180 mcg/kg), rabbits (150 mcg/kg), and rats (600 mcg/kg).

In an oral teratology study in rabbits, at 700 mcg/kg, (approximately 70 times the maximum recommended daily intranasal dose in adults on a mcg/m<sup>3</sup> basis), increased incidences of resorptions and malformations, including cleft palate and/or head malformations (hydrocephaly or domed head) were observed. Pregnancy failure was observed in most rabbits at 2800 mcg/kg (approximately 270 times the maximum recommended daily intranasal dose in adults on a mcg/m<sup>3</sup> basis).

There are no adequate, and well-controlled studies in pregnant women. NASONEX Nasal Spray, 50 mcg, like other corticosteroids, should be used during pregnancy only if the potential benefits justify the potential risk to the fetus. Experience with oral corticosteroids since their introduction in pharmacologic, as opposed to physiologic doses suggests that rodents are more prone to teratogenic effects from corticosteroids than humans. In addition, because there is a natural increase in corticosteroid production during pregnancy, most women will require a lower exogenous corticosteroid dose and many will not need corticosteroid treatment during pregnancy.

Nonteratogenic Effects: Hypoadrenalism may occur in infants born to women receiving corticosteroids during pregnancy. Such infants should be carefully monitored.

Nursing Mothers: It is not known if mometasone furoate is excreted in human milk. Because other corticosteroids are excreted in human milk, caution should be used when NASONEX Nasal Spray, 50 mcg is administered to nursing women.

Pediatric Use: Safety and effectiveness in children less than 12 years of age have not been established.

Geriatric Use: A total of 203 patients above 64 years of age (age range 64 to 85) have been treated with NASONEX Nasal Spray, 50 mcg for up to 3 months. The adverse reactions reported in this population were similar in type and incidence to those reported by younger patients.

ADVERSE REACTIONS In controlled US and International clinical studies, a total of 3210 patients received treatment with NASONEX Nasal Spray, 50 mcg at doses of 50 to 800 mcg/day. The majority of patients (n = 2103) were treated with 200 mcg/day. A total of 350 patients have been treated for 1 year or longer. The overall incidence of adverse events for patients treated with NASONEX Nasal Spray, 50 mcg was comparable to patients treated with the vehicle placebo. Also, adverse events did not differ significantly based on age, sex, or race.

Three percent of patients in clinical trials discontinued treatment because of adverse events, this rate was similar for the vehicle and active comparators.

All adverse events reported by 5% or more of patients (regardless of relationship to treatment) who received NASONEX Nasal Spray, 50 mcg 200 mcg/day in clinical trials, and that were more common with NASONEX Nasal Spray, 50 mcg than placebo, are displayed in the table below.

ADVERSE EVENTS FROM CONTROLLED CLINICAL TRIALS IN SEASONAL ALLERGIC AND PERENNIAL ALLERGIC RHINITIS (PERCENT OF PATIENTS REPORTING)

Other adverse events which occurred in less than 5% but greater than or equal to 2% of mometasone-treated patients (regardless of relationship to treatment), and more frequently than in the placebo group included: arthralgia, asthma, bronchitis, chest pain, conjunctivitis, diarrhea, dyspepsia, earache, flu-like symptoms, myalgia, nausea, and rhinitis.

Rare cases of nasal ulcers and nasal and oral candidiasis were also reported in patients treated with NASONEX Nasal Spray 50 mcg, primarily in patients treated for longer than 4 weeks.

In postmarketing surveillance of this product, cases of nasal burning and irritation and rare cases of nasal septal perforation have been reported.

OVERDOSAGE There are no data available on the effects of acute or chronic overdosage with NASONEX Nasal Spray, 50 mcg. Because of low systemic bioavailability, and an absence of acute drug-related systemic findings in clinical studies, overdosage is unlikely to require any therapy other than observation. Intranasal administration of 1600 mcg (8 times the recommended dose of NASONEX Nasal Spray, 50 mcg) daily for 29 days, to healthy human volunteers, was well tolerated with no increased incidence of adverse events. Single intranasal doses up to 4000 mcg have been studied in human volunteers with no adverse effects reported. Single oral doses up to 8000 mcg have been studied in human volunteers with no adverse events reported. Chronic overdosage with any corticosteroid may result in signs or symptoms of hypercorticism (see PRECAUTIONS). Acute overdosage with this dosage form is unlikely since one bottle of NASONEX Nasal Spray, 50 mcg contains approximately 8500 mcg of mometasone furoate.

NASONEX® Nasal Spray can actually prevent most of the itchy, runny nose; sneezing and congestion of seasonal allergies.

To prevent most seasonal nasal allergy symptoms before they start, begin treatment 2 to 4 weeks before the anticipated start of the pollen season. It is important that you take NASONEX® regularly, at the time recommended by your physician since its effectiveness depends on regular use. NASONEX® treats both seasonal and year-round nasal allergies. Maximum benefit is usually achieved within 1 to 2 weeks.

In clinical trials, the most common side effects with NASONEX® occurred about as often as they did with placebo (nonmedicated nasal spray). These were headache occurring with 26% of people vs. placebo 22%; viral infection, 14% vs. 11%; sore throat, 12% vs. 10%; nosebleeds, 11% vs. 6% and coughing, 7% vs. 6%. Your doctor or other healthcare professional is the best source of information about NASONEX® and other medications. When discussing NASONEX®, it is important to notify them of all medications that you are currently taking. For your reference, please see additional important information on reverse side.

Available by prescription only.

TUES. 8 PM

Frank Vincent

Actor Frank Vincent ("Goodfellas") hosts this riveting study of the gangster lifestyle, which is illustrated with clips from movies about the mob, including "Goodfellas," "A Bronx Tale," "Donnie Brasco" and "Casino." The program also includes interviews with an ex-mobster turned informant and a wiseguy convicted of racketeering, and with actors who have played mobsters, including members of what Vincent calls the "Gangsters Actors Guild." There are also comments from journalist Jerry Capeci, who discusses the influence of movies on real mobsters; and from John Gotti's defense lawyer Bruce Cutler. (2:00)

Let Your Spirits Soar!

Gliding effortlessly on the breeze, a bald eagle retreats to his nest where his mate awaits. They are surrounded by the Grand Canyon's South Rim, a sight as glorious and dramatic as these noble birds are strong and free.

Now the magnificent beauty of the bald eagle and the tall rock spires of the Grand Canyon are captured in "Coming Home," a stunningly realistic artwork by Steven Hardock enhanced with a three-dimensional, hand-painted base inspired by the eagle's natural habitat.

Available exclusively from The Hamilton Collection, "Coming Home" premieres the Wings of Freedom collection. Owners may preview new issues without obligation. Our 30-Day 100% Satisfaction Guarantee assures you order without risk, so reply today!

Who Can Resist the Holiday's Tasty Treats?

Remember the delicious scent of holiday treats baking in Grandma's kitchen? The laughter of family celebrating the most joyous season of the year? These are memories you'll always treasure, now lovingly brought to life in "You Can Always Fudge A Little During The Season" from the delightful Precious Moments® Holiday Memories collection.

In this memorable scene, a little girl couldn't wait for a chocolatey bite of dessert. And beloved Precious Moments artist Sam Butcher caught her with her tiny finger in the mixing bowl! Each new figurine in the collection is a sweet reminder of the warmth of Grandma's heart and home. And each is meticulously sculpted of fine porcelain bisque and lovingly hand painted in delicate pastels.

Owners may preview subsequent issues in the collection risk-free. Our 30-Day 100% Satisfaction Guarantee assures you order without risk. Relive fond memories of the holiday season with the sweet charm of "You Can Always Fudge A Little During The Season." Reply today!

Carson Daly

Carson Daly (MTV's Total Request Live) admits being surprised when he was asked to emcee this 17th annual ceremony, telecast from Shreveport, La. But he was also "honored," he says, as the pageant skews to "a young, hip" audience with which he can identify. Plus, he feels he "can stand on [his] feet and talk comfortably in front of 200 million [international] viewers." Daly will have some company: Entertainment Tonight's Julie Moran; Miss U.S.A. 1996 Ali Landry; and Britney Spears, who grew up in Louisiana and offers pretaped commentary throughout the show. Also: musical selections by 'N Sync ("Drive Myself Crazy"). (Live; 2:00)

JOB SWITCHING

Lucille Ball

Lucy and Ethel (Lucille Ball, Vivian Vance) find that life is no bowl of bonbons in a memorable episode that originally aired on Sept. 15, 1952.

Ricky and Fred (Desi Arnaz, William Frawley) decide to teach their wives the value of a buck, so they agree to become househusbands for a week while Lucy and Ethel get jobs at Kramer's Candy Kitchen. It's a sweet deal, but Lucy's debut as a dipper leaves her a chocolatey mess. Then a speeded-up conveyor belt has both of them stuffing candies into their blouses, caps—and mouths. It's a classic scene that was named one of TV Guide's 50 Funniest TV Moments of All Time.

HOT SHOW

Kim Delaney

NYPD BLUE (CC) 24
TUES. 10 PM
(2) (9)

SINGING THE BLUE'S PRAISES

The fallout from Delores Mayo's death fuels this intense repeat of the award-winning drama. Danny (Rick Schroder) and Sipowicz lock in on a drug dealer with ties to Delores, and a romantic triangle takes shape among co-workers.

The hour exemplifies the standout year that collared Blue seven Emmy nominations. Nods for Outstanding Lead Actor in a Drama went to three-time winner Dennis Franz and departed costar Jimmy Smits, whose heartbreaking final scenes may help the five-time runner-up snag a statue. Smits' on-screen widow, Kim Delaney, scored her third nomination for Outstanding Supporting Actress in a Drama (she won in '97).

Hand-built. Hand-painted. Hand-polished.
Re-creating every authentic feature in 1:12 scale.

Issued to celebrate the 50th Anniversary of Ford, it embodied the indomitable spirit and incomparable work ethic of the American farmer. Intrepid. Reliable.

Now re-captured with stunning accuracy in the definitive die-cast model from Franklin Mint Precision Models. Authentic in every astonishing detail. From its remarkable heft and balance to the vivid red and grey paint work, to the pristine finish. With an intricate replica of the engine under the cover. And an impressive array of operating features. Brakes and clutch that pivot. Steering wheel that controls the front wheels. And the fully suspended seat. Bearing Ford's official nose medallion inscribed with the words, "Golden Jubilee Model 1903-1953." And the Ford emblem itself gracing the engine cover. Priced at just $135, which is payable in convenient monthly installments. Available exclusively

TALK ABOUT (CC)

5:30

WED. 8:30 PM 7 12

Julia Roberts

Julia Roberts stars as Grace King Bichon, a Southern magnolia who shows some steel after she spots her husband (Dennis Quaid) kissing another woman.

The incident shatters Grace's picture-perfect world and prompts her to take stock of her life. "You married a guy whose nickname in college was Hound Dog," Grace's sister Emma Rae (Kyra Sedgwick) needles. "What did you think was going to happen?" Roberts and Quaid are effective, but it's Sedgwick's performance and the deft turns by Robert Duvall and Gena Rowlands (as Grace's parents) that make this 1995 film something to talk about. (2:30)

CLOSE-UP

ON THE TRAIL OF MARK TWAIN WITH PETER USTINOV (CC) 5

WED. 9 PM 16 43 54

PART I: ISLES OF PARADISE

Debut: Actor and author Peter Ustinov retraces a journey first undertaken a century ago in this four-part travel series.

Mark Twain's tour of Fiji, Hawaii, Australia, New Zealand, India and South Africa led to his 1897 book Following the Equator. "He was writing about picturesque rites, extraordinary dances and so on," notes Ustinov (pictured), who also addresses issues such as race and colonialism to add substance to the program's pretty pictures. In Part I he learns that the ancestors of his hosts, the Fijians, not only welcomed British rule, they asked for it. And, he marvels, "they became more royalist than the British." (1:00)

SMACKDOWN!

Debut: The WWF makes its return to network television with this weekly prime-time series. The WWF's Sunday and Monday programs on the USA network have been garnering boffo cable ratings—and a "Smackdown!" special that aired on UPN in April was the network's highest-rated show for the week. UPN hopes fans will tune in for a third night of WWF action every week. They'll have to if they want to follow the ongoing sagas of stars like "Stone Cold" Steve Austin and the Rock, as the storylines progress from Sunday Heat to Monday Raw to War to this series. TV notables salute the entertainers who inspired them in this clips-filled retrospective. "We're standing on the shoulders of giants," says Paul Reiser, whose own giants include Red Skelton and Mel Brooks. Kelsey Grammer cites Bob Hope and Jack Benny as important influences, and Ellen DeGeneres lauds Woody Allen and Lucille Ball. David Duchovny says his inspirations range from Monty Python to The Twilight Zone. And Simpsons creator Matt Groening says that he patterned Bart after Leave It to Beaver's Eddie Haskell. "He got away with stuff," Groening chuckles. "I really like that." Candice Bergen hosts. (2:00)

Natasha Lyonne

An awkward girl comes of age in this wry 1998 comedy based on writer-director Tamara Jenkins' own teen years.

Set in 1976, the film tells of Vivian (Natasha Lyonne), a 15-year-old who's mortified by her rapidly changing body and her family's nomadic lifestyle. Moving in and out of ratty hotels on the fringe of the famed ZIP code with her dad (Alan Arkin) and two brothers, Viv finally gets to have some fun when her wild-child cousin Rita (Marsa Tomei) arrives from rehab. Rita helps Viv face womanhood—and the lovelorn loner next door. Rated R for adult themes, language and nudity. (1.35)

CLOSE-UP

ECW WRESTLING
FRI. 8 PM (TNN)

Debut: Extreme Championship Wrestling comes to national cable television.

While the World Wrestling Federation on USA and World Championship Wrestling on TNT and TBS have battled for cable-ratings supremacy the past couple of years, ECW has survived in relative obscurity with a small, yet loyal, following. This series, which will continue its soap-opera storylines plus feature musical guests, provides ECW more exposure for its "hardcore" stars like Taz, "Mr. PPV" Rob Van Dam, Sabu and Justin Credible. For TNN, the combo of ECW and WSL RollerJam gives it an action-filled Friday-night lineup. (1:00)

TV GUIDE'S STAR RATINGS

In this feature, theatrical movies are accompanied by star ratings of ★★★★★ (excellent), ★★★★★ (good), ★★ (fair) or ★ (poor). Our evaluations are based on a number of factors, including a consensus of leading critics, quality of cast and director, awards earned and box-office performance. Though movies may be edited for television, our ratings are based on the original, complete film. The absence of stars indicates an unrated movie. TV GUIDE does not evaluate movies if the criteria cannot be applied because too few facts are known (example: a minor foreign film), or if the film is made for television or released directly to video.

PARENTAL GUIDANCE

The official MPAA content rating (G, PG, PG-13, R or NC-17) is provided for every unedited film that has received one (NR: not rated). We also offer advisories about content (AT = adult themes, N = nudity, SL = strong language, SS = sexual situations, V = violence). Parents should be aware that films containing adult themes or sexual situations frequently involve nudity, even though our advisory may not explicitly say so.

THE TV GUIDE HOROSCOPE

BY SALLY BROMPTON

♈ ARIES (March 21-April 20) You're perfectly capable of making a point without a show of force—and with Mercury, the planet of communication, in a challenging mood this week, a compromise is preferable to a victory. Don't regard it as a loss of face; others will attribute it to tactics.

For your extended Aries horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5558*

♉ TAURUS (April 21-May 21) Although you know what you want out of a relationship, you seem to be missing the point when it comes to understanding the demands of a close associate or loved one. Forget the words and listen to the subtext.

For your extended Taurus horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5559*

♊ GEMINI (May 22-June 21) Opportunities manifest themselves in various guises, and the problem this week is that you're apt to miss one that's coming your way. The trick is to not get so caught up in trivial matters that you lose sight of your big chance. This could greatly improve your prospects.

For your extended Gemini horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5560*

♋ CANCER (June 22-July 23) It's not necessary to spend a fortune in order to have fun—and you should point this out to someone who seems to be anticipating a good time at your expense this week. Let your hair down, but keep an eye on the price tag.

For your extended Cancer horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5561*

♌ LEO (July 24-Aug. 23) Uncompromising aspects affecting your birth sign will do little to improve your mood this week—and you'll need to keep a low profile if you're to avoid upsetting colleagues or loved ones. There are limits to how much provocation that even those closest to you will endure.

For your extended Leo horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5562*

♍ VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23) The sun in your birth sign after Monday will increase your confidence and competence, but partners won't take kindly to being imposed upon—especially around the tune of Thursday's full moon. You need room to maneuver—and so do they.

For your extended Virgo horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5563*

♎ LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23) With friends and colleagues anxious to put their own houses in order, you may find it hard to summon up support for an idea or enterprise of your own. It's not the ideal time to start something new, so put it on hold until after September 23.

For your extended Libra horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5564*

♏ SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) This week, don't say anything without first thinking it through, since you're likely to be taken far more seriously than you realize. Those with whom you live and work will view you as a guiding light. Try not to disappoint them.

For your extended Scorpio horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5565*

♐ SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Not everyone sees things as black-and-white as you do, and not everyone shares your innate sense of justice. Therefore, it's up to you to bring a personal grievance to the attention of partners or colleagues. Better to tackle it now than let it fester indefinitely.

For your extended Sagittarius horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5566*

♑ CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20) After the sun changes signs on Monday, the focus will shift toward the future—and a change of scenery is likely. First, however, you need to streamline your workload, discarding and delegating where necessary. Make it easier by viewing it as a fresh start.

For your extended Capricorn horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5567*

♒ AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19) You're not alone in liking things your own way, and you may have to resort to a degree of give-and-take this week if you're to keep a close relationship on an even keel. You may enjoy compromising so much that it will become a habit. On the other hand—maybe it won't.

For your extended Aquarius horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5568*

♓ PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) The approaching full moon in your birth sign is already making you feel somewhat on edge, but that's no reason to take it out on the people nearest to you. Stay cool and calm, and others will applaud your strength of character and mind.

For your extended Pisces horoscope, call: 1-900-825-5569*
